

Nothing is the perfect form of everything. Nothing is the most able of energy and entirely control When nothing exists spontaneously energy and nothing are formed.
In our world we perceive the form and effects of energy.

This energy applies to matter and antimatter. When matter and antimatter meet energy is formed. When energy and nothing meet nothing is formed. There is a perfect vacuum is the more of energy. And the antimatter. This is something is governed by similar equations which follow the equations describing the action of energy.

Thus the ^{equations} would have ~~analogous~~ counterparts to all of the energy world.
